Churla Gets Hat Trick

Coleman Beats Taber 5-3

Saturday, December 23 the Coleman Grands defeated the Taber Chiefs by a score of 5 to 3. The Chiefs who outplayed the Grands in the first period went ahead by a score of 2 to 0. In the second period the Grands reversed the situation and outplayed the Chiefs by a greater margin with Koury getting one goal from a perfect pass from Jimmy Novasad who carried the puck the whole length of the ice slipping it to Ron Koury who in return beat the Taber goalie all the way. This goal inspired the Grands and in short time the sparkling young Fritz Churla who openly said before game time that he would score two goals, potted two quick goals to put Coleman ahead by a score of 3 to 2 at the end of the second period. In the third period Coleman Grands scored twice more, one more goal by Churla and one by Cavers who also had two assists. Taber scored at 16:10 to end the scoring with the final score 5 to 3 in favour of the Coleman Grands. As this reporter said before, leave Cavers and Churla to gether and they are going to be hard to beat. To complete the line the Grands will have to get either Mr. Hockey Ted Kryzka or Jim Novasad on the line, then, results, best line in the league. Unpredictable Joe Joseph who was in the nets for the Grands played one of the best games of the year and deserves a lot of credit for the Grands win. Let's hope both Ted Kryzka and Jerry Scodellero are out on Saturday night when the Grands play host to the Calgary Addisons. Game time 8:30 p.m. Coleman are na.

Gas Survey Results Are Encouraging

Colin Gillies, representative of Canadian Western Natural Gas Company Limited, said today that the survey being conducted by the Gas Company in the Crow's Nest Pass is very encouraging. The survey is being made to get an idea of how many persons in the Pass towns of Frank, Blairmore, Coleman and Bellevue would be interested in having gas service supplied to their homes. The men so far have completed their survey in Frank, Bellevue and Blairmore and are presently doing Coleman. Mr. Gillies stated that so far the men were pleased with the results of the survey but said that many residents were under the false impression that coal furnaces and other appliances could not be converted to economically use gas. Although the gas company is not in the conversion business it is learned that a coal furnace in good shape could be successfully converted to use natural gas at less than one-third the cost of a new gas furnace. Persons having the gas installed in their homes would be charged an approximate 95c per foot for the laying of a service line from their lot line to the gas meter in their home. Natural gas can be used for heating, cooking, clothes drying, incineration and refrigeration. Installation of natural gas service in the Crow's Nest Pass would be an added incentive to encourage further industry to come to this area.

Pass Cadets Receive Promotions

The 535 Blairmore Cadet Corps enjoyed its annual Christmas party in the RCME headquarters building in Blairmore Christmas week when the 35 cadets and their civilian instructor, John F. Hogan, and RCME S/Sgt. Harry Lord, and Sgt. Major Joe Myslicki of Coleman, were hosts to the cadets' parents and their guests. Guests at the affair included Dr. and Mrs. Andrew Krees, O.C. commanding 31st Tech. Sqdn. RCME, Robert Munson and Mrs. Munson, RCMP Police Cpl. Marsh Hopkins and Mrs. Hopkins, Major and Mrs. Don Watson of Pincher Creek, and Mrs. John Hogan of Blairmore.

Following the turkey banquet, Cpl. Hopkins gave an interesting talk on the value of cadet training, which he felt would serve the cadets in later life.

Cpl. Hopkins was number 19 in the province of Alberta Airforce cadet corps.

Major Watson also spoke briefly on the value of cadet training with a view to training and building of character and teaching self-discipline. Lieut. Munson then expressed seasonal greetings to all present on behalf of the corps.

It was then announced by Mr. Hogan that the following cadets had been promoted:

Cpl. Horn, Cpl. Jumarchuk and Cpl. Ingram, all of Coleman, to the rank of sergeant.

Cpl. Jumarchuk and Cpl. Ingram attended summer camp in Vernon, B.C., last summer. Cadet Chester Mortimer of Blairmore, and Ed Youngberg of Hillcrest were both promoted to the rank of corporal, as both cadets attended summer camp at Clear Lake, Man., last summer. Cadets Hill of Bellevue, Antcliff of Blairmore and Bruce Youngberg of Hillcrest, were all promoted to the rank of lance corporal.

First, Marge Kubica; second, Jack Colwell; third, Aldo Montalbetti; fourth, Bert Bond, and fifth, Mrs. E. Malanchuk.

Honorable mention was made of the homes of Harry Parkinson, John Wavrean and Bill Carpenko. The homes, well decorated with Christmas lights, were judged by the committee on Christmas Eve, and prizes varying down from $8 to $4 cash were awarded to the winners.

The prize money for this annual event is provided by the town of Coleman as an incentive to get local residents to decorate the exterior of the homes for the Christmas season.

Prize money was increased this year as council decided to do away with cutting down many small trees and cutting them to light standards along the main street, and money that was spent on this work was turned over to the decorating fund.

Over 50 candidates have already been nominated for the coming election which is expected in the spring. Social Credit expects to win not only the majority of the federal seats in Alberta but seats all across Canada.

Ernie Patterson, federal Social Credit candidate in the Macleod constituency, will also address the meeting. Mr. Patterson who teaches school in Clarksburg, states that although the election has not yet been called the party organization in the Macleod constituency is moving ahead rapidly.

Life-like Scene In Hotel Coleman

Many residents in the Pass towns are commenting on the life-like decoration built by Mrs. Marie Ostash on the interior wall of the Hotel Coleman.

The work depicts a Christmas winter scene in a small village. Time on the scene is in the evening, and Mrs. Ostash had arranged Christmas lights inside of each of the little buildings. The little Christmas lights twinkle on and off at various times, and give the effect of viewing a village in the distance.

Papier mache, tinsel and paint together with plenty of patience and hard work by Mrs. Ostash has resulted in the fine scene.

Branches and small evergreen trees have also been used in the making of the scene which gives it a feeling of reality. Looking at the scene, which has a three-dimensional effect, gives one the impression of looking out of a picture window to see a small village nestled in a valley below.

OF MANY THINGS (By Ambrose Hills)

About You in Sixty-Two

How are you, personally, going to fare in 1962?

Hold tight, because old Ambrose is going to tell you, and I have it right from headquarters — from too darn many years of experience facing new years which keep crowding closer and closer together all the time.

You are going to do just about as well in 1962 as you deserve to do, no better, no worse. Luck and circumstance may push you a bit this way or that, but in the main, you're the chief causative factor in which way the ball bounces.

I've heard a number of sermons in my day, but the one that keeps coming back to mind was that of an elderly minister who said to his congregation: "I know that many of you feel you are too old now to start a new and important life, and that there are also many who feel quite young yet and think they have plenty of time. I want to say that you are both quite wrong; the time of Salvation is now, whether you are young or old. Remember, just as you can get nothing free, you cannot perform well without getting paid. Nothing is wasted."

The old minister went on to urge an immediate start, without a lot of day-dreaming and procrastination. Live your best, — stand straighter, think more clearly, look and talk your best, be your best at all times in the sure knowledge that you will be rewarded, for the law in this regard is unfailing.

So that's my hope for you in 1962, that you get just exactly what you deserve. And I hope it is good.

Alberta Operator's Licences Expire

Gordon E. Taylor, Minister of Highways, announced the following items today:

1—That, Alberta Operator's Licences issued in 1957 will expire on the licensee's birthday in 1962. Renewal applications will be mailed from Edmonton to the last recorded address of the driver, approximately 30 days in advance of the expiry of his five-year Operator's Licence. This will allow sufficient time for the driver to apply for and obtain his new licence before the expiry of his five-year licence.

Any person who has not received his renewal application at least 10 days prior to the expiry of his old licence should immediately write to the Department, giving his name, address, birthdate and operator's licence number and request a new application form.

All drivers should take particular note of the following:

- that, every driver is required by law to notify the Department of Highways of any change of address;
- that, in the event of any change of name by marriage or by legal change of name under the Change of Name Act, such correction should be noted on the renewal application form;
- That, on receipt of the renewal application, it should be checked carefully to assure that it is correct in every way. If there is any error, note the error in the space provided on the application form;
- that, immediately on receipt of the renewal application, the application should be completed and submitted to the nearest licence issuing office, together with a fee of $5.00 or application should be forwarded together with a postal money order made payable to The Provincial Treasurer and addressed to: The Registrar, Motor Vehicle Branch, Department of Highways, 97th Ave. and 14th St., Edmonton, Alberta.

2—That, commencing on January 1, 1962, Learner's Permits will be discontinued and Operator's Licences may be issued restricted to a learner category. Applicants for learner's category operator's licence must qualify by successfully passing the basic minimum vision and knowledge test. After qualifying, application may be made to the nearest licence issuing office, together with a fee of $5.00 by forwarding the application together with postal money order for $5.00 made payable to The Provincial Treasurer and addressed to The Registrar.

At any time after procuring an Operator's Licence in a learner category, application may be made to the nearest Driver Examination Office to qualify for an unrestricted licence, provided the applicant is sixteen or over.

Slum clearance slows

Canadians aren't really trying very hard to clean up their slums, says The Financial Post.

There's plenty of money to do the job, but they just can't seem to agree to use it to the full advantage.

Federal government complains that cities and towns aren't making enough use of sections in the National Housing Act aimed specifically at urban re-development.

But city officials retort that Ottawa could be a lot more generous. There's agreement on both sides, however, that "centre blight" and "suburban sprawl" afflict most Canadian cities.

The Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities argue that Ottawa should set up a municipal development bank where municipalities could get money on terms as favorable as possible.

Slum clearance project should allow for a variety of uses and not be slanted, almost exclusively, at housing.

How did Kirkland Lake get its name?

Kirkland Lake, Ont., one of the largest unincorporated communities in Canada as well as one of the largest gold mining centres in the country, was named after Winnie Kirkland, an employee of the provincial Department of Lands and Forests at the time of the gold rush.

The lake around which the community developed has long since been filled in. It was in July, 1911 that a solitary prospector skirted the east shore of this then unnamed lake, panned rock and discovered gold.

He was Bill Wright, who, with his brother-in-law, founded the Wright-Hargreaves mine.

Six months later Harry Oakes, with a pack-sack and a cash balance of $256, trudged to stake a claim on the south shore of the same lake. His grub stake, the Lake Shore mine, developed the deepest mining shaft on the continent. The first producing mine was the Tough Oakes. The bonanza years for Kirkland Lake were 1927 and 1928.

Exporters offer long time credit

Canadian exporters can now compete equally with foreign suppliers from any country when it comes to giving their customers abroad extended credit terms, according to a folder on Government Export Financing published recently by the Export Credits Insurance Corporation.

The Corporation is the Federal government's financing agency for export credit transactions, operating under Section 21A of the Export Credits Insurance Act.

Through its special Export Finance Division the Corporation deals directly with the Canadian exporter. It is the exporter himself who develops the foreign business and negotiates the financing arrangements with the Corporation. Payments for the equipment are made direct by the Corporation to the exporter just as if the foreign buyer had made a cash purchase.

Government financing is reserved for export sales of capital goods requiring credit terms of longer than five years. The period involved can be as long as 15 years or more if this is necessary to enable the Canadian exporter to compete successfully for foreign business.

Such long term financing for exports is not available from the banks or other commercial sources.

The new folder outlines the type of transactions financed, terms of credit, financing costs, how to negotiate transactions, eligibility for financing and how to apply.

Copies of the folder Government Export Financing are available free from the Export Credits Insurance Corporation, P.O. Box 555 Ottawa, or from the Editorial and Art Services Division, Trade Publications Branch, Department of Trade and Commerce, Ottawa, Ont.

Govt. to Increase Teacher Training Period

The Government has decided to increase the minimum period of teacher training from one to two years effective September, 1962. This action is consistent with the Government's long-established policy of continuously upgrading the quality of school services throughout the province.

In view of the very large numbers of high school graduates now entering the Faculty of Education from year to year, it is feasible to raise the minimum period of teacher training to two years.

This means that any student who enters the Faculty for the first time next fall and thereafter will be required to complete at least two years of training before he is eligible to receive a teaching certificate from the Department of Education.

In keeping with the outstanding record of leadership which Alberta has given in the field of education in Canada, this Province is the first to raise the minimum teacher training requirement to two years.

Teaching certificates that have already been awarded by the Department for one year of training such as the Junior E. Certificate, will remain valid, and the holders will continue to enjoy all the teaching privileges which these certificates have granted them.

Teachers who come to Alberta from other Provinces and other countries will be issued Alberta Certificates on the same basis as at present with respect to any academic and professional training completed prior to September 1st, 1962. In future, however, those who commence their programs of teacher training in other Provinces or other jurisdictions after that date will be required to show that they have completed the equivalent of two years of training at the University of Alberta.

Courtesy... "Politeness with Kindness"

One of our exchanges published the following article which is applicable to most of the country: "Many successful businesses have been built on the sound principle of providing a reliable product or worthwhile service at a fair price.

It cannot be denied, however, that when such a product or service is marketed in a courteous manner a more pleasant and rewarding experience for all will result.

People, both young and old, in all walks of life, react favorably to courteous treatment—and it costs no more than a little time and effort plus thoughtful consideration of others. How many of us remember a businessman in our parents' or grandparents' time who invariably walked to the door and opened it as his customers left?

He found time to be courteous. Courtesy is an important and valuable asset. It cannot be monopolized by any one group, but it would appear at times that it could be used to better advantage in many of our personal and business relationships.

Like ripples created when a pebble is thrown into a pool, an act of courtesy will extend far beyond the original gesture.

The summer season is now upon us and many visitors will be travelling in the East Kootenay area, and many will be passing through this district.

Would this not be an excellent time to make a conscious effort to be more courteous, not only on our highways, but on the streets, in our stores and places of business?

It takes so little time and effort and the results can be far-reaching. The tourist will remember the kind deed, helpful hint and friendly smile long after vacation highlights have faded from view.

We are fortunate in being situated in the centre of a holidaying paradise that will continue to attract more and more visitors each year.

Tourist dollars have become important dollars in the economy of this district. Courtesy on the part of residents and businessmen can help keep these dollars rolling into the East Kootenay area.

But even more important than the dollars and cents aspect is the fact that courtesy also makes for a much more pleasant world in which to live.

'Courtesy' and 'Creston' should become synonymous.

Palm hats have history

Two things most Hawaii vacationers pick up within 48 hours after arrival—a sun tan and a coconut hat that keeps it from becoming a burn.

And strangely enough the popularity of the tree leaf hat in Hawaii traces directly to Hawaiian royalty.

It all goes back to king-size 1500 pounds John Adams Kuakini, brother of Queen Kaahumanu (of equally generous proportions).

Kuakini built Huihe palace at Kailua-Kona on the Big Island of Hawaii between 1837 and 1838.

As great in spirit as he was in size, he believed that the best gift the missionaries brought was Hoonau, or education. So he helped them start schools.

He read through the English Bible with care and helped translate the scripture into Hawaiian.

In keeping with the dignity of these tasks, Kuakini always sheltered his amiable features with a hat. For a long time he was the only man on the island to wear one.

But soon Kuakini decreed that no woman should as much as step into the church grounds or palace grounds without first putting on a papale (hat).

Thanks to the miracle of modern air travel, it's very much within the realm of possibility that you'll be one of the hundreds of nappy holidaymakers who enjoy the sun-dappled beaches of Hawaii from under a gay, multi-colored Hawaiian capeau.

Are you prepared for winter?

"Be Wise, Winterize", this is not a slogan designed to help merchants clear their shelves for spring.

The thought behind the idea is to help people realize that we must face winter months at least once a year, and the best way to meet winter is by being ready for it. Winterizing can start anywhere. In the home, on the body and in the family car.

By winterizing economically, everyone can save themselves countless dollars and help retain their health.

Winterizing should start with the body according to experts.

You must prepare the body for winter by dressing properly and making sure you eat the right food, possibly supplemented by vitamins to keep from becoming run down.

Winter is that time of the year when fresh green vegetables are difficult to obtain and in order to meet the shortage your doctor can recommend the best type of vitamins. Clothes are second on the long list. Warm wool clothing and dry shoes are also a necessity during the winter. With the possibility of the body being run down, warm clothes are a essential part of your every-day living.

The best time to buy these winter clothes is before the heavy demand is on.

This is the time when there is a better selection of sizes and colors and often, bargains may be obtained when there is surplus as well.

The fall of the year, just before the cold spells are here to stay is the time to winterize your home. Make sure you have plenty of fuel. Check your plumbing, check the windows and doors for it is easier to fix them now, before snow is piled up outside.

Insulation is one of the best investments you can make. Your insulation dealer is able to advise you about how much and the type to use.

Make sure you have tread outside the door to take snow off shoes and if possible now is the time to build that extra protection around your door.

An entrance hall or room is always handy in the winter for taking off wet clothes and it also stops plenty of cold drafts.

Check your chimneys, make sure they are cleaned and ready to take on the extra winter load. With the fireplace going most of the time and the furnace on, sooty chimneys can become very dangerous.

Outside taps should be turned off and garden hoses should be brought in before the heavy frost. Check your shrubs outside and if they are the type that may break under a snow blanket, tie them up.

There is the family car which is a must on the winterizing list. Check your anti-freeze or take it to your family garage where you are sure of getting good service and at the same time make sure your auto is properly protected.

Tires must be checked, those smooth tubes that have been bulging out the sides during the summer months will be cut to ribbons when snow and ice comes.

How is your oil? Is it light enough to start the car in the morning, without wearing out that battery which may be overlooked unless you take it to your garage dealer who is qualified to handle the job.

Winter months are the hardest on your car and the best way to make sure your auto is going to be in good shape next spring is to winterize now.

Remember "Winterizing" does not cost you anything—it saves you money, year after year.

The happiness of your life depends upon the quality of your thoughts.
